Mayor's Report to Council

30th September 2020

John Biggs, Mayor of Tower Hamlets

Key Events/Announcements

Covid-19

This is our first council meeting since March, and in that time Covid-19 has had a massive impact on all of us. We have all had to get used to varying restrictions and changes to our normal daily lives, but this of course is insignificant in comparison to the suffering of those who have lost their lives, and those who have lost loved ones.

Our thoughts are with those who have suffered so much, and our thoughts and gratitude are with those who are working on the frontline in public services during this extremely challenging time, including our dedicated and tireless council workers.

We also owe a debt of gratitude to everyone in our borough who has come together to support one another and/or donated their time and money. From residents checking on their neighbours, to community groups and organised food delivery networks, to people just going about their daily lives and following the rules: thank you all.

I hope our town hall communications campaigns and our many partnership gatherings and briefings have helped keep people safe. We need everyone in the borough to be an ambassador for safety and to defeat this terrible plague.

Our response to Covid-19

As a second rise in infections hits us we must redouble, as leaders, as residents and our visitors, an unremitting focus on avoiding the spread of the virus. We know it has particularly affected our older and medically vulnerable residents and has had a higher impact on some BAME groups.

We continue at the Town Hall to fight for better testing and support for our community. While this year has been very difficult for everyone, the East End spirit of community and resilience has massively helped us.

Our response effort continues and although the rate of new cases over the summer fell significantly, numbers are now quickly rising again, particularly amongst younger people. The Government has now set out additional measures to curb the spread of the virus, but the next few months will be very challenging. Additional measures and responding to the data will help us manage the pandemic but without a medical solution we rely on people following the rules.

The lack of the 'world beating' test and trace system that we were promised has slowed efforts to cut the spread of the virus. A new government run local test centre has now opened in Watney Market Idea Store – testing offered on an appointment basis only – and this will help, but it won't solve the national failure to ensure enough capacity in the test and trace system. This is an issue I have written to the Health Secretary about. It's important to emphasise that although the council supported this new testing centre and is providing the space for it, it is not run by us.

Getting ready to support children and young people back to school has been a major focus for us as a council over the summer, with significant planning and communications and working with our local schools. Schools have now opened and although it is clearly an anxious time for parents, pupils and school staff, it is so important that we ensure our children and young people are back in education.

Covid-19 and the local economy

Another massive concern of the pandemic, in the longer term of greater impact to our community, is the rapidly growing economic crisis. In August 47,600 people were furloughed in Tower Hamlets, and we know that a lot of them are likely to become unemployed. Universal Credit claims have already increased by over 50%. Support for people without work is mainly for Government and the DWP but we are looking at what other local steps we can take. The Government has launched the Kickstart programme for young unemployed adults, which is currently far too small and unambitious a programme.

We are continuing with our 'local offer', including food support, counselling and advice, for those forced to isolate, for as long as we can source the funds to do this. The main responsibility for financial support rests with the Government, through the DWP, but a missing link has been adequate financial support for those on low incomes and in insecure employment who are forced to isolate and will not be able to afford to do so. We have pushed for and made some progress with this as to be punished for doing the right thing and staying at home on statutory sick pay is a cruel twist for workers who do not get their wages paid during quarantine. A recently announced £500 payment for those on in-work benefits required to isolate is welcome but the details on how it will work remain unclear.

I've also backed the 'Time Out to Help Out' campaign which seeks self-isolation to be recognised as a civic duty, and for workers to continue to receive their full wage when self-isolating but this seems unlikely to be supported. It is clearly unfair that those in secure salaried employment will mostly continue to be paid if isolating, while others will not.

The council's budget

We have faced over a decade of austerity on top of which the impact of Covid-19 on local council budgets has been devastating too – through the double hit of increased costs and reduced income.

At the beginning of the pandemic councils were told to spend 'whatever it takes' in order to tackle the virus. Whilst there has been some additional money to councils, it in no way completely covers the cost. About a half has been received so far. The financial situation is now very bleak indeed.

We are looking at our budgets now as part of the normal budget process, and we will of course continue to lobby the Government that our local councils should be fully reimbursed for the cost of Covid-19.

Other events and Council Business

While the past 6 months have been dominated by the economy and Covid19, there has of course been a lot more happening across the borough. Although I can only meet people in a very limited and controlled way because of the virus, we have continued to progress much of our work and to work with employers and residents to try to keep the 'show on the road' while also keeping us safe. I have been out and about throughout.

The council, and its committees, and the Cabinet, have not been able to meet other than virtually, but have gradually got back into business. We are continuing to deliver our services, and my manifesto commitments, although we have had to reduce some services and alter the ways others work because of the pandemic. Initially a number of decisions were made using my executive mayoral powers to make 'Individual Mayoral Decisions' but the cabinet has now resumed its meetings, using the internet and broadcasting our deliberations and decisions.

Tower Hamlets Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic Inequalities Commission

Our new Commission has now met for the first time, and they will be carrying out a detailed piece of work into how we better tackle racial inequality in the borough. We announced the Commission following the Black Lives Matter movement and the killing of George Floyd. Deputy Mayor Asma Begum leads the Commission, which is gathering evidence to investigate what practical changes and improvements can be made especially in the areas of health, employment and education, and community leadership.

Finally

As this is an annual meeting, with a change of Speaker, I'd like to thank our outgoing Speaker Cllr Victoria Obaze for her work over the past 16 months. Victoria has worked hard to represent our borough through a very difficult time and I know all members of the council are very grateful.
