CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

The London Healthy Workplace Charter provides a framework for action to help employers build good practice in health and work in their organisation. The charter supports all types of employers, large and small, from the public, private and voluntary sectors. Using this self-assessment framework your organisation can find out what it is already doing that fits into the ethos of the charter as well as where it might need to improve. The framework reflects best practice and is endorsed nationally by Public Health England.

The business benefits of having a healthy, fit and committed workforce are now clearly recognised. These include lower absence rates, fewer accidents, improved productivity, staff who are engaged and committed to the organisation and fitter employees as they grow older. Organisations that commit to wellbeing can expect improved business outcomes.

By using the charter organisations can benefit from:

- the ability to audit and benchmark against an established and independent set of standards – identifying what the organisation already has in place and what gaps there may be in the health, safety and wellbeing of employees.
- developing strategies and plans – the charter provides a clear structure that organisations can use to develop health, safety and wellbeing strategies and plans.
- recognition - the award helps to strengthen the organisation’s brand and reputation and supports sales and marketing activities. Accredited organisations will receive a logo helping them to stand out as employers. Representatives will also be invited to an exclusive awards ceremony at City Hall.

Please see the ‘Accreditation Guidance for Employers’ at www.london.gov.uk/healthyworkplace for more information.

The Charter award levels:

Commitment	The entry level – for organisations that have recently started the process
Achievement	The intermediate level – for organisations that have a more advanced and comprehensive approach to employee wellbeing
Excellence	The advanced level – for organisations that demonstrate that health and wellbeing are embedded in their corporate culture and values

The Charter standards:

- Corporate support for wellbeing – the ways in which the organisation uses its policies and practices to create a working environment that is conducive to health. The section includes leadership for health, planning for health, equality guidance and the engagement and ownership shown by senior managers.
- Attendance management – the ways in which information is used to help managers reduce sickness absence, inform management practice and support attendance.
- Health and safety requirements – the systems the organisation uses to monitor and improve health and safety.
- Mental health and wellbeing – the ways in which the organisation protects and promotes the mental wellbeing of its staff, including appropriate policies, management training and support mechanisms.
- Tobacco and smoking – the ways in which the organisation goes beyond the minimum legal requirements.
- Physical activity – the ways in which the organisation actively promotes the importance and benefits of regular physical activity and creates opportunities for employees to become involved.
- Healthy eating – the ways in which the organisation actively encourages and enables staff to eat healthily.
- Problematic use of alcohol and other substances – the ways in which the organisation responds to problematic use of alcohol and other substances and promotes the safe and sensible use of alcohol.

The tables in the following pages provide information on what meeting the requirements might look like in addition to suggested tools and links for further support. Please note that these are examples and it is important to reflect what is most appropriate for your organisation.

Section 1: Corporate support	✓
1.1 The organisation has assessed its needs and priorities around health and work and developed an action plan		For small businesses this may take the form of focus groups or informal discussions with staff, or the inclusion of health and wellbeing in team meetings. For medium or large employers a staff survey may be more appropriate. Other organisational records can also be used, such as regular sickness absence reports from occupational health providers. Evidence will refer to the reports/ notes on which the needs assessment is based, together with some kind of action plan to show that it is developing activities/ actions based on what its staff need. It is also helpful to know how the findings of surveys/ meetings etc are communicated to staff.	Happy People Ltd A free staff survey tool to find out how happy your staff are. Happy People Ltd will also summarise the results for you. http://bit.ly/17gLXO2 Acas – information for employers on the Equality Act 2010 A leaflet providing detailed information on equality and discrimination within the workplace. http://bit.ly/1FSvPhL Also see the following: http://bit.ly/1E09HSv http://bit.ly/1MbZRin Equality Act 2010 This sets out the different ways in which it is unlawful to treat someone. Find out who is protected from discrimination and the action that can be taken. http://bit.ly/1fj9TwMA
1.2 Your management can demonstrate the process for ongoing consultation and communication with employees on relevant workplace health issues		Methods of communicating with staff are appropriate and the organisation attempts to reach as many people as possible. Evidence might include photos of staff noticeboards, screenshots from the intranet to show what kind of information is provided there, copies of staff newsletters.	Employee satisfaction feedback templates Find out how to keep your employees happy and productive. http://svy.mk/1D21bSN Evidence based guidance from NICE on workplace policy and management practices Designed to improve the health and wellbeing of employees focuses on the organizational culture and the role of line managers http://www.nice.org.uk/guidance/ng13 The NICE Local Government briefing on workplace health Provides a summary of the evidence based guidance http://www.nice.org.uk/advice/lgb2/chapter/Introduction

Commitment level

1.3 Senior management encourages a consistent and positive approach to employee well-being throughout the organisation		Senior management has oversight of the work that is being done and this work is reported back to a senior level. Evidence might include notes from senior management meetings and strategic documents e.g. business plans etc which publicly state the organisation's commitment to improving staff health and wellbeing.
1.4 The organisation is aware of its responsibilities under the Equality Act 2010 and other equality legislation is known and adhered to		The organisation can describe its responsibilities under the Equality Act 2010 and how these are fulfilled for example in recruitment processes, working hours and flexible working etc. There is an equality and diversity policy/ statement and information on this is available to all employees.
1.5 There is an effective policy/ process in place for communication with staff		The organisation participates in regular meetings with all staff. Evidence might show that communication is conducted through a number of different channels (e.g. face to face, e-mail, verbal, written).
Section 2: Attendance management
2.1 A clear attendance management policy/guidance is in place and procedures are known to employees		There is an up to date absence management policy/guidance. Employees are aware of the absence management policy, for example through induction processes, management training, etc.	Standard forms and guidance are available from the Health and Safety Executive  http://bit.ly/1L4zHzA HSE managing sickness absence and return to work in small businesses            Short fact sheet for small employers, giving advice on what employers should do at regular intervals of an employee's absence from 3 to 28 days.  http://bit.ly/1DYd7X5
2.2 Contact is maintained with absent employees to provide support and aid return to work		The absence management policy/ guidance makes it clear how important it is to maintain contact with absent employees.
2.3 Return to work interviews are conducted and recorded with concerns/ appropriate support recorded and provided		Absence management policy/ guidance includes return to work procedures. Examples of return to work interventions are available, such as an anonymous case study.	Standard forms and guidance – Acas            Provides a useful advisory booklet on managing attendance and employee turnover .  http://bit.ly/1zZlqjH.

Commitment level

Charter standard area	Is this met?	What this might look like...	Supporting tools/ links
2.4 Specific risk assessments for individuals are conducted and take into account a person's health status		Evidence might include descriptive examples of individual risk assessments for those people with disabilities or additional needs, and of the reasonable adjustments that have been implemented.	Fit for Work service This Government funded initiative is designed to support people in work with health conditions and help with sickness absence. Its website includes an advice hub for employers. http://bit.ly/14d7Nk6
2.5 Reasonable adjustments are available to employees in line with recommendations made in a Statement of Fitness for Work		The absence management policy/guidance explains that reasonable adjustments are available. Evidence might include examples of how managers understand the term 'reasonable adjustments' (for example, when giving return to work interviews).	Fit note: guidance for employers and line managers Explains what to do if an employee gives you a fit note and how you can use it most effectively to help your organisation. http://bit.ly/1zjDCA Evidence based guidance on managing long-term sickness and incapacity for work from NICE http://www.nice.org.uk/guidance/ph19 Including tools and resources to support building a business case, a guide to resources and a checklist for managing absence Resources from NICE
Section 3: Health and safety
3.1 The organisation is aware of legal obligations in relation to health and safety that are relevant to the organisation		An up to date health and safety law poster is in place. A nominated and sufficiently competent person is responsible for health and safety.	The Scottish Healthy Working Lives website gives details of some of the health and safety legislation that apply to all employers and workplaces, and those extra duties that applies to workplaces with more than five employees. http://bit.ly/1rxHLfo
3.2 Relevant health and safety policies and procedures are in place to demonstrate compliance with health and safety legislation		Evidence should include the organisation's health and safety policies that reflect greatest risk as well as information on procedures for staff to report incidents and accidents.	Health and Safety Executive guidance can also be found at: http://bit.ly/1DhbZid
3.3 A risk assessment programme has been implemented and all employees are informed of the workplace risks that affect them and the controls in place		Risk assessments are available to all employees they have an impact on. Employees are aware of the risk assessments and know where they are. Examples of risk assessments conducted in the workplace might be included as evidence.

Commitment level

Charter standard area	Is this met?	What this might look like...	Supporting tools/ links
3.4 The workplace environment is conducive to health and employee welfare, including drinking water, washing facilities, clean toilets, eating facilities, etc		The organisation complies with the workplace (health and safety and welfare) regulations. Evidence could include staff satisfaction surveys, cleaning rotas, etc.
3.5 Health and safety training has been given to all employees		Health and safety is detailed in the employee induction package and possibly included in induction training.
Section 4: Mental health
4.1 Information is provided to employees that helps reduce the stigma around mental ill-health		Examples might include describing how the organisation talks about mental health to its employees (reassuring employees that mental health problems are common and not a sign of weakness). Also how the organisation actively looks to remove barriers that would prevent employees raising mental health issues, such as signing up to the Time to Change campaign.	Tools for employers  Time to Change            This is England's biggest programme to challenge mental health stigma and discrimination. Time to Change work with organisations from all sectors to improve policy and practice around mental health discrimination.  http://bit.ly/1cds063
4.2 Information is provided to employees about mental health and wellbeing, including work-related stress		Employees have been given information about mental health and stress at work. Evidence might include information on the intranet, training courses, leaflets, posters promoting well-being, etc.	HSE management standards            Identifies six management standards that cover the primary sources of stress at work.  http://bit.ly/1Jmvt8K            Evidence based guidance from NICE on promoting mental wellbeing at work  http://bit.ly/18AIAIx            Including tools and resources such as building a business case, costing tool for employers, a guide to resources, and advice for small and medium sized businesses.  http://www.nice.org.uk/guidance/ph22/resources
4.3 Employees are made aware of their legal entitlements regarding working conditions		Evidence might include an induction checklist indicating that employees are made aware of their legal entitlements regarding working conditions. Also a contract of employment stating working conditions.
4.4 The organisation is aware of risks relating to work-related stress (for example, as set out in the Health and Safety Executive's Management Standards) and action is taken to prevent it being a problem for employees		Evidence might include a mental wellbeing statement/policy that states the HSE management standards for factors that influence stress. The mental wellbeing statement/policy is available to all employees.

Commitment level

Charter standard area	Is this met?	What this might look like...	Supporting tools/ links
4.5 Employees are aware that mental health and wellbeing issues are valid and people seeking to address these issues are fully supported by the organisation at all levels		Supportive guidance is provided to aid employees with mental health issues. Evidence needs to show how the employer has supported or has the capability to support individuals who have issues that affect their mental health.	Acas Factors to consider if a worker shows signs of stress. http://bit.ly/1G3EyBd Provides information on the important correlation between the workplace and mental health. http://bit.ly/1IMQ0za Tools for employees New Economics Foundation five ways to well-being The five ways to wellbeing is a set of evidence-based actions which promote people’s wellbeing. http://bit.ly/1cHWdOT Mental Health Foundation Ten practical ways on how to take care of yourself and get the most from life. http://bit.ly/1akp22X
Section 5: Smoking and tobacco
5.1 The organisation’s management team is aware of its duties under smoke-free legislation and is in compliance		Evidence should include how management is made aware of these duties, for example through briefings, training, induction, etc.	Tools for employers Guidance on a smoke free policy template: Provides a free downloadable smoke free policy template. http://bit.ly/1zZrGYR Employers who are considering whether to allow use of nicotine vapourisers in their policy can consider the five questions set out by Action on Smoking and Health in their paper, ‘Will you permit or prohibit electronic cigarette use on your premises?’ This can be accessed here: http://bit.ly/1CAAdl4K
5.2 All staff are aware of the smoke-free and tobacco control laws and how they are applied in their workplace		Evidence should include information on where ‘No smoking’ signs are displayed in the organisation (for example in vehicles or the front entrance). Evidence might also include information in staff code of conduct, induction, on the staff intranet or in a relevant policy.
5.3 Sources of further information and support to quit smoking are regularly available		Employees have been given information about the effects of smoking. Evidence might include leaflets with information promoting no smoking and availability of support to quit. This could be provided on a staff noticeboard.	Acas also provide further information which can be found here: http://bit.ly/1bNb4Lg
